"The current lifetime deferral for men who have had sex with other men is medically and scientifically unwarranted and [we] recommend that [the] deferral criteria be modified"

THE CURRENT POLICY DOES NOT TAKE ANY OF THE FOLLOWING INTO ACCOUNT:

- the use of protection in sexual activity
- the donor's status in a long-term monogamous relationship
- the various risk levels of different types of sexual interaction

The deferral period for a man who has sex with other men should be changed to be consistent with deferral periods currently in place for heterosexual behaviour.

This screening procedure should be based on behaviours that are scientifically proven to be high-risk, not on broad and outdated stereotypes of the queer population.
